Powerful Analytics on Communications Data

Repeat offenders make millions of phone calls every year, packed with intelligence that could prevent violent crimes. Yet without the right tools, departments review less than 1% of them. TRULEO refuses to accept this any longer.

Enough is enough.

The screenshot shows a dark-themed interface with a top navigation bar containing 'FILES', 'FORMAT', and 'GENERATED REPORTS'. Below this, a header reads '10 JAN 26 12:52' and 'Generate an intelligence report on INMATE 245'. The main content area is titled 'SOURCES (7)' and contains a paragraph: 'According to the inmate communication analysis, INMATE 245 presents elevated risk indicators tied to violent rhetoric... Key details below are drawn from recorded calls from 2026-01-22 and 2026-01-23.' Below this, there are two bullet points: '• Threats & Violent Rhetoric: INMATE 245 stated intentions to "take a few of these people", indicating possible plans of harm' and '• Homicide Exposure/Contextual Intel: INMATE 245 discussed the killing of a 17-year-old boy'.
